

How much will the ground shake?

New maps from the U.S. Geological Survey reveal the region's earthquake risk in unprecedented detail — and add a new fault line under Lake Washington. Areas at highest risk for ground movement include the University District and Interbay. South Seattle is least susceptible. Over the next 50 years, there's a 10 percent chance of these levels of shaking.

